Are you looking for a new challenge in a fast-growing, dynamic high-tech company?
It's time to make a move!

VuWall is a global leader in video wall control systems, providing a complete ecosystem of products recognized for the most effective distribution of any source to any display throughout organizations. We are a privately held company headquartered in the West Island of Montreal with a European subsidiary in Germany. With customers in more than 45 countries, we have deployed over 2000 projects in many Fortune 500 organizations, government agencies, utility, transport, and security companies including the US Departments of Transportation, NASA, Canadian Space Agency, European Commission, Sydney Rail, Porsche, Daimler, L'Oréal, SNCF, and FIFA. In order to sustain our rapid growth, we are looking for an experienced Product Manager.

JOB DESCRIPTION

Reporting to the CTO, the Product Manager's main mission is to execute the company's strategic product development plan by overseeing and managing the evolution of VuWall's entire product line and product lifecycle. This rewarding position offers enormous growth, an opportunity to work with members of all departments and great potential to impact the company's success. It requires a motivated and hard-working individual, passionate about technology with excellent communication and organizational skills.

MAIN RESPONSIBILITIES

- Communicate with customers and the sales team to identify business opportunities for new product development, new features and product improvements.
- Understand, research, and follow technical trends in the industry and explore new ways of improving VuWall solutions.
- Manage the product line as a coherent interoperable ecosystem.
- Ensure all product documentation is updated.
- Contribute to the enhancement of our training programs in coordination with the Training Manager.
- Support and collaborate with Marketing to promote solutions via live demos, webinars, tradeshow, campaigns, presentations, sales tools, and other marketing efforts.
- Communicate internally regarding product status and provide internal training on new products.
- Handle quality issues with suppliers (hardware manufacturers, internal dev. team).
- Produce product/pricing audit and present price analysis to senior management team.
- Monitor and report on the profitability of each product line.
- Follow competition and keep company informed about relevant competitive information.

VuWall is committed to building a diverse and inclusive workplace.
